

Six Western States Battle Forest Fires Caused By Lightning

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of fire fighters battled flames in national forest areas of six western states today. At least six major fires were still out of control, three in the Payette national park in Wyoming.

Four crewmen were hospitalized, one in California and three in Idaho.

More than 300 lightning-caused fires, most of them small, covered an estimated 33,000 acres of timber and grass lands in the drought-stricken forests.

Winds that caused fires to flare out of control Saturday had died down yesterday and in Idaho, a light overcast raised the humidity last night. Weather will be the major factor in bringing the fire under control, James Hockaday, forester from the regional forest service fire control office at Ogden, Utah, said today.

Major fire was a 7,000-acre blaze in Hell's Canyon in the Payette forest. It was there that wind-swept flames caught a crew, causing injury to several men. Three were hospitalized and Jim Knudsen of Gem, Kas., was termed critical. The gorge is 7,400 feet deep, adding to the difficulty in establishing a fire line.

Another fire near Riggins, Idaho, had covered 3,200 acres.

In Yellowstone park, nine timber and grass fires kept more than 300 men on the fire lines, although no park roads were closed. Largest fire is a 1,000-acre blaze about five miles southeast of Mammoth.

A fire on Mirror Plateau north of Yellowstone lake flared out of control yesterday and forest service officials were too busy to send crews to a third fire that broke out yesterday on the Madison Plateau near Summer lake, 15 miles west of Old Faithful. Flames roared over 200 acres on the upper Gallatin river in the northwest corner of the park.

In California, Donald Rhoades of Klamath Falls was hospitalized with chest injuries when he was struck by a falling tree in the Shasta national forest. The blaze flared up from a previous 3,000-acre fire spreading from a sheep herder's camp, officials said.

Two small fires were reported in the Boise national forest but officials expected to bring them under control today. Lightning started several small fires on the northern Idaho and eastern Washington border and disrupted communication lines in the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, fire station.

Other fires were burning in western Montana and Oregon.

Senate Argues Rent Controls

Budget Too Small, Director Claims

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The argument about rent control boiled up again for the Senate today. The specific question is whether to reconsider a $17,500,000 appropriation which the rent director, Tighe Woods, says is not enough to keep rent controls going at the present rate.

(Woods has said that if congress doesn't increase funds for his agency, he will have to lift controls from one-third of the areas still having them. Further, he says he may have to rely on volunteer citizen help to watch over controls in some of the two-thirds remaining.)

President Truman asked $26,750,000 to operate the office of housing expediter during the year that began July 1. The Senate cut this down to $21,667,500 but a Senate-House conference whacked off another $4,167,500 to $17,500,000.

Senator Myers (D-Pa.), acting as majority leader, told the Senate last week that the cut in rent control funds was welcomed by "lobbyists and groups who beseech both branches of congress."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), on the other hand, said the real lobbying is by federal officials who protest "every time congress tries to save some money."

A-Bomb And B36 Best U. S. Defense, Says Gen. Spaatz

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Gen. Carl Spaatz said today that if it weren't for the B-36 bomber and the atom bomb, Russia could subdue "practically all of Europe and Asia in a relatively short period of time."

The retired air force chief made his statement before the House Armed Services committee. The committee is trying to find out whether political influence or favoritism figured in the development of the big, six-engine B-36.

Spaatz told the committee that in December, 1946, or January, 1947, he decided to continue a contract for 100 B-36s.

He said he made this decision because "the results to be obtained from possession of an intercontinental bomber were so enormous as to justify going ahead and taking the chance of failure, just as was done in developing the atomic bomb which this plane was designed to deliver."

The ministry of national defense asserted most machine guns and rifles taken from the Red 51st were Russian made.

'Stir Crazy' Convicts Greased With Soap Escape In Georgia

Milledgeville, Ga., Aug. 22 (AP)—Thirteen "stir crazy" convicts escaped from a ward for the criminally insane at the State Hospital yesterday. One, a rapist, still was at large today.

Wife Murder Staged In Detroit Bar Room

Detroit, Aug. 22 (AP)—A former lifer, freed under the "quick justice" ruling, was held on a murder charge today in the bar room slaying of his second wife.

Police Sgt. Armand Meneghel said Bernard Niedzialkowski killed 23-year-old Madeline Patricia Koszyk just as he had killed his first wife—with a borrowed shotgun fired at close range.

Niedzialkowski claimed he married the attractive brunet in 1948 after his release from Southern Michigan prison. When attacked Saturday, however, the victim was sitting with another man who produced a marriage license to show he was wed to her in 1947.

The second husband in the triangle is Anthony Koszyk, 34. He told police his wife at one time taught school in Alabama and was the mother of two children by a man she married in the south.

Witnesses to the slaying said Niedzialkowski had been arguing with the couple and Koszyk told him to leave. He did so, Meneghel reported, but returned shortly with a shot gun borrowed from his father.

Firing into Mrs. Koszyk's face, he ran from the bar, shouting "she took me for everything I had." Police who arrested Niedzialkowski quoted him as saying later, "I loved the woman too much."

Hopes For Settling Hawaii Dock Strike Res: On Washington

Honolulu, Aug. 22 (AP)—Hawaii's hopes for settlement of the 115-day CIO waterfront strike rested on Washington today.

This was the day Cyrus S. Chang, chief of the U. S. Conciliation Service, was expected to announce whether he would come here to mediate the dispute.

If Chang is unable to come to Hawaii, there was a possibility he would ask representatives of the striking CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and of the seven struck Stevedoring firms to go to Washington.

Ecorse Girl Gone 10 Days; Fleeing Uncle Suspected

Detroit, Aug. 22 (AP)—Blue-eyed, nine-year-old Barbara Jean Aberl was sought today by state police who expressed belief she had met with foul play since her disappearance ten days ago with an uncle.

An intensive hunt also was on for the uncle, Arthur Mayer, 30, of Farmington. Mayer fled yesterday after Barbara Jean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Aberl of Ecorse, discovered he had lied about her whereabouts.

State troopers investigating the case said there was "little doubt" that the child had been harmed.

This is how Sgt. Harry Collins of the Redford post pieced together the story of Barbara Jean's disappearance.

He said the girl's 14-year-old sister, Margaret, was taken by Mayer Aug. 11 to the home of another uncle, Frank Fallache. Mayer lives with Fallache and his wife.

The next day Mayer returned to the Aberl home and said Mrs. Fallache wanted Barbara Jean to visit her, too. He drove off with the younger girl.

Yesterday, Collins, said Fallache drove Margaret to her Ecorse home and was surprised to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Aberl thought Barbara Jean was staying with his family.

He said she had not been at their Farmington home at all. Fallache and Aberl then drove back to Farmington and questioned Mayer.

"Oh, I forgot to tell you," they quoted him as saying, "I took her out to her great aunt's house."

The father telephoned that relative, Mrs. Margaret Darling, of Clarkston, and found that the little girl had not been there.

When he left to make the telephone call, Mrs. Fallache told Collins, Mayer dashed into the woods behind the Fallache home and disappeared.

Slash In Arms Aid Program Gains Backing

Compromise Is Seen In Senate Action

By OLIVER W. DE WOLF

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) today joined in a Senate drive to trim the $1,450,000,000 sought by the administration to finance a foreign arms aid program.

Hickenlooper, a member of the foreign relations committee, said he thought the European countries could "get along with substantially less money" than Secretary of State Acheson and military leaders have asked Congress for.

He didn't say he would go as far as the House did last Friday, slashed the $1,160,990,000 tagged by the administration for North Atlantic pact partners to $580,495,000, or just half the original amount.

Even Billion Suggested

There was speculation that the House's action would force the administration into some kind of compromise. This might take the form of accepting the House figure insofar as cash is concerned and trying for as much more as can be obtained in authority to enter for in later appropriations.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), ranking GOP member of the foreign relations committee, already has asked that the figure for the Atlantic Pact nations be trimmed to an even $1,000,000,000. He also has suggested that some of the first year's financing be in the form of contract authorization.

Senator Dulles (R-NY), another GOP foreign policy leader, has joined Vandenberg in the $1,000,000,000 figure.

Senator George (D-Ga.), a foreign relations member, had recommended prior to the House action that the administration request for North Atlantic Pact members be halved. The House position also won endorsement from two other Southern Democrats, Senators Russell (D-Ga.) and Byrd (D-Va.). Both are members of the Senate Armed Services committee which jointly is considering the program with the foreign relations group.

All this adds to a rough time for foreign relations chairman Connally (D-Tex.) who has announced that he will stand pat on giving the administration what it wants when the two committees start drafting a bill tomorrow.

Grand Rapids Divorcee Slain

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP)—A comely 42-year-old divorcee was killed last night by a shotgun blast that came through the window of her daughter's small home here.

The victim was Mrs. Rose Prince. Police said the shot that felled her was aimed directly from a distance of about eight feet. It did not injure any of three other persons in the room.

Officers immediately began a hunt for the man Mrs. Prince had planned to marry until she quarreled with him a short time ago.

Police Detective Richard Norden identified the man as Leonard Miller, 42-year-old weaver from Rockford, Ill. A state-wide alarm has been sent out.

Neighbors who heard the shot about 11 p. m. said they saw a man running away from the modest, one-story home of the daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sluja.

An unidentified car that had been parked in the neighborhood most of the day disappeared about that time.

Norden said Mrs. Prince and the Sluja couple had been away during the day and returned late in the evening to find that someone had broken into the house. A basement window was smashed and the front door had been opened, Sluja reported later.

Earthquakes Rock Pacific Northwest; No Major Damage

Prince Rupert, B. C., Aug. 22 (AP)—A sharp series of earthquakes rocked a wide area of the Pacific Northwest last night for about five minutes. No casualties or major damage were reported.

The violent shaking appeared to center in British Columbia's Skeena River Valley. It was felt as far south as Portland, Ore., and at Petersburg, Alaska, to the north.

Tito Supporters Hurl Defiance At Moscow

TROUBLE FOR TITO?—Moscow's recent note denouncing Yugoslavia as an "enemy and foe" of the Soviet Union gave color to parallel reports that Russia may try to overthrow Marshal Tito's regime within a few weeks. Map above illustrates significant military situation, reportedly detailed by U. S. Military intelligence agents, and quoted by a London newspaper. The dispatch said the overthrow attempt may be made by infiltrating Yugoslavia with Soviet agents and disguised troops.

Peace With Freedom Not Bought Cheaply, Truman Tells VFW

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Miami, Fla., Aug. 22 (AP)—President Truman fought back today against advocates of a cut in his $1,450,000,000 foreign arms aid program, declaring that peace "can not be bought cheaply."

He carried his case for Senate restoration of the cut before thousands of cheering delegates to the golden jubilee convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in flag-draped, bunting-draped Dinner Key auditorium.

The auditorium, a war-time hangar seating 10,000 persons, was crowded to overflowing as Mr. Truman entered to the strains of "Hail The Chief."

In a world upset by Soviet pressure, he said, the arming of friendly nations is "part of the price of peace."

He asked approval of funds to give military aid to democracies "without delay."

The president drove to the auditorium from the airport through crowds lining highways who waved and cheered him on. Mr. Truman's staff included Major General Harry H. Vaughan.

Sharp Upswing Taken By Polio

List Of Victims Now 15,500 For 1949

By the Associated Press

Army aide, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) welcomed the chief executive with Gov. Fuller Warren and shook hands warmly with Vaughan.

The President left again for Washington at 12:32 p. m. In his address, the president described the goal of the arms program as prevention of aggression.

"We are not arming ourselves and our friends to start a fight with anybody," he president said. "We are building our defenses so that we won't have to fight."

The president made no reference to the plight of Communist-controlled China. A new American policy concerning that country is in course of study at the state department.

But, he said, the Philippines and Korea, the two young republics in the Far East, "need military assistance if they are to maintain their national security."

While most of the aid sought in the arms program would go to the Atlantic treaty countries, he said the Philippines and Korea will share like others "whose security is important to world peace."

"We must continue our aid to Greece and Turkey," Mr. Truman said. "We should help Iran maintain its firm stand against Soviet pressure."

Mr. Truman said military aid is "part and parcel" of the policy of helping European economic recovery. He conceded it was costly, but said "it represents an investment in security that will be worth many times its cost." And he said it is "part of the cost of peace."

Unless the democracies stand together to weld a defense structure strong enough to prevent another conflict, he said, they can be taken over "one by one."

Ford Co. Veterans Get Nowhere In Pension Demands

By GLENN ENGLE

Detroit, Aug. 22 (AP)—Three thousand old-time Ford employees went back to the factories today after hearing that no progress had been made by their union to win them pensions.

But leaders of their union—the CIO United Auto Workers—had assured them it was "stronger and more determined than ever."

The old-timers, mostly 60 to 70 years old and with 25 to 43 years' seniority, jammed a high school auditorium here yesterday. Several hundred were turned away for lack of standing room.

Walter Reuther, UAW president, had invited all Detroit area Ford workers who would be eligible for pensions almost immediately to hear a report on the union's long and secret negotiations with Ford since June 2.

Most of what has gone on in the bargaining room still was left a secret. But Reuther did say that although "some progress" has been made on non-economic issues, none at all has been made on the union's industry-wide demands for $100-a-month pensions, company-financed welfare funds and fourth-round wage boosts.

He added, however: "We're not going to sign a contract until the workers have a pension plan that provides a roof over their heads in their old age."

If a strike of 106,000 Ford workers results said Reuther, the company will "have to accept moral and economic responsibility."

Reuther indicated the union would not hesitate to use fund-raising machinery set up at the recent UAW convention in Milwaukee to support a Ford strike. This could raise $10,000,000 in 12 weeks through assessments on the rest of the nearly 300,000 auto workers.

Hurricane Off Florida Coast

Storm Due To Pass North Of Miami

Miami, Fla., Aug. 22 (AP)—A small Atlantic hurricane—the first of the season—roared toward the Florida coast today.

The hurricane, increasing in size and intensity, was located about 525 miles east of Nassau, Bahamas, and 700 miles east and somewhat south of Miami at 11 p. m. (EST).

It was moving west northwest about 20 miles per hour and reports indicated an increase in the rate of forward speed.

Hurricane winds estimated at 90 miles an hour whirled around the center of the doughnut-shaped disturbance. They extended outward 30 to 40 miles from the center and gales extended 75 to 100 miles in the northern semi-circle.

The weather bureau said the storm was centered at 11 p. m. near latitude 24.8 north, longitude 69.5 west.

"It is expanding a bit and ought to slow down," said chief storm forecaster Grady Norton, who warned it may increase in size and intensity.

If the hurricane continues its present course, Norton said, it will pass north of the Bahamas and Miami.

Young Mother With Polio Has Baby Boy; Condition Critical

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 22 (AP)—A young mother who gave normal birth to a son although ill with poliomyelitis was reported in critical condition today.

Mrs. William B. Johnson, 20, left her iron lung for ten minutes Saturday to give birth to 8-pound Patrick William, her second child. Her doctor had hardly expected her to pull through, and her husband was elated when she did.

But the Johnsons still have plenty of problems. Hospital officials will say nothing more than that Mrs. Johnson's condition is still critical. They add that should her new son show any signs of polio symptoms, a spinal tap for the disease would be necessary even though it would be hard on the baby.

Mr. Johnson, himself, is still hospitalized from a heart attack suffered last week.

Yugoslavia And Russia Wage War Of Words

Note From Kremlin Called Insulting

By the Associated Press

Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia drew surprise support from a group of German Communists today. This sign of the growing split in the ranks of world Communism came as Yugoslavia's war of words with Russia reached a new pitch of intensity.

A Russian note to Belgrade at the weekend threatened to take "effective measures" to protect Soviet citizens in Yugoslavia. Replying, the Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba accused the Kremlin of using those citizens as spies.

British newspapers quickly noted the similarity between the stern tone of the Soviet note and the language used by Hitler before he sent the German army into action a decade ago. They said the Russian note sounded like the worst threat of war since 1939.

Bolshevism Is Fraud

Typical was the comment of the London Daily Mail. It said the acute hostility between the Yugoslav and Russian governments "has reached such a pitch that an outbreak of war would not be astonishing."

Titoism now has taken root in Germany. German Communists who hate Russia formed a new splinter party today and promptly sent the Yugoslav leader a message of support.

The new organization described itself as a "free Communist party." It claimed 4,000 active members in the Russian zone of Germany and another 600 in the western sectors of Berlin.

Karl-Heinz Scholz, veteran German Communist underground campaigner, told a reporter in Berlin:

"We have formed to fight imperialist Bolshevism. The so-called internationalism of Soviet Russia is a fraud. We reject any plans for a dictatorship over the people."

Suspect In Kentucky Bride Slaying Hangs Himself, Leaves Note

Pikeville, Ky., Aug. 22 (AP)—A 22-page statement left by Blaine Edgar Jones, accused rape slayer whose body was found hanging in his jail cell here yesterday, was put under lock and key last night.

State Police Commissioner Guthrie Crowe announced at Frankfort the statement, found in Jones' cell by a deputy sheriff, was locked in a safe pending return of Sheriff D. C. Moore, who was out of the city when the accused man's body was found hanging from a light fixture.

Contents of the statement was not immediately known.

The 32-year-old navy veteran from Richland, Va., was to have gone on trial today. He was charged with the rape slaying and robbery of 19-year-old Mrs. Lois Collins, a bride of six months.

The slaying occurred in Mrs. Collins Pike county home March 11.

Little Baby Scalded

Detroit, (AP)—Roy Moore, 20 months old, died Sunday of burns suffered when he turned on the hot water in his bath. His mother, Mrs. Doris Moore, said she left the room for a moment, and when the baby's screams called her back she found him sitting in scalding water.

P-M Mines Go On 4-Day Week

Verona Properties Were On 5-Day

Caspian.—Effective Monday, Aug. 29, the mines of Pickands, Mather and company will be operated on a four-day-a-week basis, Harold J. Richards, of Caspian general superintendent announced.

Curtailment in the steel industry and lack of demand for iron ore were given as the reasons for the shorter work-week. Announcement of the curtailment was given to the officers of the CIO locals at a conference in the Verona office.

Some 500 mine employees will be affected.

Richards said that supervisory officials and office personnel will not be affected. They will continue to work five days a week.

The Verona mines, the James Davidson and Buck (Verona group) will be on production only four days a week, and development work at the Berkshire also will be reduced from five to four days.

The Verona mines have been working five days a week since last May 1. Prior to that date they were operated six days a week.

United Fund Idea Is Big Challenge, Campaigners Told

"The United Fund idea appeals to big people, with big ideas, because it is a big and challenging job," Stephen S. Nisbet, president of the United Health and Welfare Fund, told county committee people from seven counties planning October United Fund campaigns, in Iron Mountain, Friday, August 19.

Delta county was represented at the Iron Mountain meeting by John Lemmer, James Degnan and Lee Olson, all of Escanaba.

Nisbet told the county campaigners that their United Fund responsibility went beyond mere uniting of campaigns. "We are interested in the conservation of human resources," he said. "We must prevent waste and conserve the abilities of our community leadership."

In a panel on member agency services, which opened the meeting, Dr. Warren B. Cooksey, president of the Michigan Heart Association, deplored "the amount of fear released by some of the intense individual campaigns."

"I am not so sure that there is no harm done by these fear campaigns," Dr. Cooksey said.

He gave the workers a report on recent advances in the treatment of heart ailments and told of the research programs in Michigan supported by the Heart Association through monies raised in United Fund spring campaigns.

He also told of work being done to relieve those who suffer from arthritis and rheumatism.

Dr. E. J. Hueneke, medical director of the Sister Kenny Foundation, reported on the work of that agency, with particular emphasis on the program of the Kenny treatment center in Pontiac, which serves the entire state.

Fifty per cent of our armed forces are under the age of 21, Edwin E. Bond told his audience in explaining the great need for the new USO. "It is a 'Kid Brother' army," he said, and the American people have a responsibility to provide these off-post services."

Keyes In Race For Governor And Will Stick

Pontiac, Mich., (AP)—Former Lt. Gov. Eugene C. Keyes is in the race for governor of Michigan "to stay."

That's what he told a meeting of Oakland county women Republicans.

The Dearborn dentist and physician, who dropped out of the race for governor in 1948 while serving as lieutenant governor to Kim Sigler, said he didn't intend to step down in anybody's favor this time.

"I want everyone here to know that I'm in the race for the nomination to stay this time," he said. "I've been sitting on the sidelines in Republican politics, and I haven't been a member of the team. But I think it's my turn to get the Republican gubernatorial nomination, seeing that I dropped out of the race a year ago."

He added:

"I think I have every right to enter the race, as I consider myself a proper candidate on the basis of past experience in state affairs."

Keyes, long known as a stormy petrel in state Republican politics, was a frequent opponent of Sigler although he served as a member of Sigler's "official family."

Fair Concludes 1949 Program

Expansion Projects Listed By Board

The Upper Peninsula State Fair concluded its 1949 exposition Sunday with substantial crowds for both the afternoon and evening presentations of the Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers.

The WLS National Barn Dance troupe, starring Patsy Montana as master of ceremonies and Rex Allen, cowboy star, drew exceptionally large crowds Saturday, with an overflow grandstand attendance for the evening performance.

The U. P. State Fair board of managers has listed three long range objectives for improvement of facilities at the fairgrounds and will seek legislative funds for this purpose.

The No. 1 project is the construction of a 4-H club building to permit the stabling of 4-H club animals separate from other entries.

Second on the priority list is the construction of an administration building adjacent to the stock barns for the use of superintendents, judges and officials. Such facility would include showers and rest rooms for the convenience of personnel working in that area.

Third on the priority list is the completion of the exhibition building as provided in the original plans and to include a separate section on the second floor for the exhibition of 4-H club handicraft, clothing and allied exhibits. The original plans for the exhibition building provided for a building somewhat larger than was ultimately constructed. The fair board seeks this additional space at the earliest opportunity for the normal expansion of the fair exhibit departments.

County Motorist Fined And Jailed For Drunk Driving

Charles Pederson, Gladstone Route 1, was fined $50 and costs in justice court this morning on his plea of guilty to a charge of drunk driving and he also was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for driving an automobile after his license was revoked.

Pederson was previously convicted of drunk driving and his driver's license was suspended.

Application Forms For GI Insurance Dividend Are Here

Application forms for the special dividend on National Service Life Insurance authorized by the Veterans Administration will be available at the Delta County Red Cross chapter office at 605 Ludington street, Mrs. N. H. Witham, the chapter's executive secretary, announced today.

The dividend is not automatic, and each veteran must fill out one of these application forms. In general, any veteran who kept his National Service Life Insurance in force for three months or more will be eligible to receive a dividend.

The exact amounts which each policy-holder will receive are not known at this time. The Veterans Administration will work that out between now and the first of the year when the first dividend payments will be made.

It is emphasized that veterans should not write to the Veterans Administration about their dividends. "We are assured by the Veterans Administration," she said, "that this will only cause delay in payment. The veteran should not communicate with the Veterans Administration on this matter except to send in the application form. If he has questions about the form or about his eligibility, we will do our best to advise him if he will stop at the Red Cross Office at 605 Ludington street, after August 29."

Politics Always Hot At Mackinac Island

Lansing (AP)—The worst thing the British ever did to us was to surrender Mackinac Island.

It was a nice piece of revenge. Look at the trouble it has caused ever since.

The average newspaper reader probably gets confused trying to follow the annual Donnybrook Fair which takes place on the island. The average politician either is in stitches or raving mad about something that happened on the island. The neutral observer is beginning to get a little fed up. Michilmackinac once a famed British outpost in the wilderness and a gold-encrusted fur trading station, now is a cross between a rich man's paradise and tourist resort.

The rich sit sedately on the high bluffs of the island. The tourists are disgorged along the beaches. In between is the historic old fort, the battle ground of the politician.

The newspapers ought to send their best fight experts to the island when the lilacs begin to bloom around the old porches. There is some of the best fighting within the fort every summer that ever was seen. The Red Coats were pikers compared to this.

Storm center of the fighting each year — and it's been going on for years — is the Mackinac Island Park Commission.

The commission usually is composed of well-to-do, politically-important citizens serving gratis with the avowed purpose of maintaining the old fort and its unique flavor as a monument of the old days.

Many of these commissioners have been and are fanatics on the subject of "the island." Many of them have poured their own money into betterment of the island. They have waged important improvements for the benefit of both residents and tourists.

No one has ever even suggested that the commission has not had at heart the best interests of the island and the old fort.

So it would seem that this constantly changing group of civic-minded citizens ought to be plugging away like high-minded little beavers. Instead, year after year, they are involved in bitter intrigue and vicious throat slashing.

The trouble seems to be that no governor can regard the island in its true perspective. Governor Williams is only one of a long line of chief executives who have spent their summer months brawling about who is going to run the island.

No sooner does a new governor arrive on the dock at Mackinac City and see the gem of the Great Lakes standing solidly in the mist than he is swept with a feudal spirit, seems to sense as of old that he who commands the island has the rules everywhere that blue water flows.

He attacks at once. Massing his administrative aids, his patronage lords and his press agents he storms the high hill and enforces himself in the governor's summer mansion.

Like the wild red men of old, the commissioners counterattack. It is an old battle to them and they love the silent creeping through the forest paths to pass a dirty slur in the bar of the Grand Hotel. As red women went into the battle field to scalp the fallen enemy, so do the wives of the combatants pass the cutting snub across the whitewashed fortress.

Battles are counted not in scalps now, but in who was left off the committee to greet the Mackinac-Chicago yacht racers, who was named chairman of the commission, who went to the governor's mansion for cocktails and who was ignored.

Fancifully distorted accounts of the annual summer clash of wits make interesting, if confusing reading for the folks back home. It seems a long way off and massively unimportant.

If half that energy and money and publicity and conniving and fighting were concentrated on, say, the state's mental health problem, its housing problem or its tax problem how much progress Michigan would make!

The main military items made by ironmakers during the Revolutionary War were cannon and cannon balls, cast from molten iron at the blast furnaces.

C&H And Union Are Deadlocked

Mine Company Offer Rejected By CIO

Calumet, Mich.—According to a statement given by Calumet & Hecla, current negotiations between Calumet and Hecla and Local 584 C. I. O. became deadlocked when the union rejected the company's offer. The company had submitted a proposal to the Union embodying the following five points:

1. That the mines be reopened at as early a date as is possible on a 5-day per week basis.
2. That effective with the reopening, wages be reduced 15 cents per hour, below the rates in effect in April, 1949.
3. That this proposal not be considered a settlement of the dispute now pending between us, but an interim arrangement.
4. That if a Government subsidy becomes effective, wage rates be adjusted as of the date when benefits accrue to the company.
5. That if the price of copper increases without subsidy to 19 1/2¢ per pound or more (that being the point at which the company estimates it can break even under the proposed program) negotiations leading to a new wage schedule immediately start.

The union had countered with a demand for the following additional conditions:

1. Union shop.
2. Automatic check-off.
3. Seniority to be retained unchanged, but with certain administrative changes.
4. No change in underground contract rates.
5. No change in job classification.
6. Agreement to be on an interim basis.

Negotiations broke down over the union shop question. The company refused to agree that its present non-union employees be forced to join the union. It did not refuse a union shop for present union members and new employees. The union, therefore, rejected the entire proposal of the company.

Islands Are Hard To Buy

Conservation Dep't Has None For Sale

Your chances of buying an island from the state of Michigan are not good.

The conservation department's lands division, custodian of state-owned acreage, simply does not have an island to sell—yet continues to get requests from persons who want a "little peace and quiet," "private hunting ground," or a "secluded vacation spot."

Most would-be purchasers do not want just any island, but have a specific one in mind, says Charles E. Miller, assistant lands division chief.

Few islands are exclusively owned by the state. Most state-owned parcels of land located on islands, where private ownership also exists, are reserved for public conservation uses, Miller explains.

There is a remote chance of picking up an island in government ownership, Miller revealed. At the time Michigan became a state, there may have been some islands in existence which were overlooked by the government surveyors. The person who has a particular island in mind which he thinks may have been in existence at the time and which was not surveyed, can petition the federal government for a survey. At the same time he should submit a request to purchase. Age of trees on the island or sea level data might serve as supporting evidence that the island was in existence at the time Michigan entered statehood.

No state or federal agency is authorized to sell an unsurveyed island, Miller points out, since its legal status is that of part of the lake bottom. A check of county records will show whether the island has ever been surveyed and patented by the federal government.

Cunard Woman Is Killed At Rail Crossing

Killed By Engine While Standing On Tracks

Mrs. Tillie Hanson, 63, of Cunard, was killed at 9:30 this morning at the Cunard sidereal railway crossing near Hermansville when struck by the engine of the Chicago and Northwestern passenger train en route from Iron River to Escanaba.

Witnesses reported Mrs. Hanson was standing on the track and apparently did not hear the approaching train. It was traveling at 40 miles an hour at that point and could not be stopped in time to avoid the accident.

Mrs. Hanson, a widow, resided with her sister, Mrs. C. Gaede, in Cunard. She also is survived by two brothers, Ed and Arthur Hanson, both of whom are employed on Great Lakes steamers.

The passenger train, No. 14, runs between Iron River and Escanaba and makes connection with the "400" streamliner at Powers. It left Iron River at 7:45, Eastern Standard time this morning. The train was composed of an engine and only two cars. Mrs. Hanson was struck by the front portion of the engine.

The body was taken to the funeral home in Stephenson. Ralph Finley was brakeman, Elmer Stacey, conductor and James Donovan fireman of the train. All reside in Escanaba.

Catholic Deanery Meets Sunday At Mission Site On Indian Lake

More than 150 members of the Escanaba Deanery of the Marquette Diocesan council of Catholic women met Sunday afternoon in Manistique and at a mission site on Indian Lake.

Following a meeting in the high school auditorium, at which photographs entered in the diocesan council program to depict the life and labors of the late Bishop Frederick C. Baraga, were shown, The Very Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of Marquette, officiated at solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at the site of the Baraga mission on Indian Lake.

The Manistique Council of Knights of Columbus cleared the land where the mission had been located and erected an altar for the occasion.

At the deanery meeting the Very Rev. Joseph Dunleavy, chancellor of the diocese and moderator for the deanery, spoke of the deanery organization and its activities, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zyrd of Marquette, vicar general of the diocese and present of the Bishop Baraga association, discussed canonization procedures.

Bishop Noa, who made a special trip from Gaylord to attend the meeting, presented photography awards at the meeting. Judges in the Bishop Baraga photography contest were the Rev. Roland Dion of Flat Rock, Mrs. T. M. Cassidy and Leslie W. Olson of Escanaba.

Grand prize, for a photograph of a manuscript on which the word God was written by Bishop Baraga in 100 languages, was won by Miss Agnes Bolen of Iron Mountain, whose family received the inscribed work many years ago from the late bishop.

Mrs. Marie Geronimi of Kingsford won first place in the amateur division; Ronald Hescott of Nahma second prize, and Dr. Rudolph Erickson of Escanaba third prize. Historical significance was the first factor considered in judging.

In the professional classification Harry Gruber of Escanaba won first place and Rev. W. C. Oremus of Newberry, second place.

Harry Gruber of Escanaba won first place, and the Rev. W. C. Oremus of Newberry second and third place, in a separate amateur division in which the negative was by the entrant, but developing by another.

In September the council will sponsor an essay contest for juniors and seniors in Catholic schools in the deanery.

Among Escanabans who attended the meeting of the council yesterday were Mrs. Mary Murphy, Mary Canavan, Mrs. John Anthony, Miss Lillian Grenier, Mrs. Med Beaudoin, Mrs. Joseph LaChapelle, Mrs. Natalie Bray, Mrs. Rose Anderson, Mrs. Catherine Smith, Mrs. James Degnan, Fr. ## Fair Board Deserves Hearty Congratulations

THE 16th annual exposition of the Upper Peninsula State Fair was concluded yesterday and the thousands of persons who visited the fair will agree that it was a successful one from virtually every standpoint.

The job of presenting an event on the scope of the Upper Peninsula State Fair is one of considerable magnitude. Even now before the books are closed on the 1949 fair, plans are already under way to produce a better U. P. State Fair in 1950.

The fair board, for instance, has decided to concentrate its efforts to secure funds within the next year to construct a separate 4-H dairy barn. In the past, including this year, the 4-H cattle were assigned to the same barn as the cattle exhibited by adult farmers. Additional cattle space is essential and the board desires to separate the 4-H herds in future fairs.

The fair board, composed of five men representing all sections of the peninsula, and the secretary-manager, Harold Lindsay, of Escanaba, have done a splendid job. They deserve the congratulations of the public for the excellent program that comprised the U. P. State Fair of 1949.

Sault Ste. Marie Plans Early For Centennial

WHEN the city of Sault Ste. Marie stages its centennial celebration there will be no possibility that anyone will say that the citizens started too late with their plans.

Sault Ste. Marie will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the building of the locks in 1955. On Friday, President Truman signed a bill creating a nine-member commission to help the Lock City prepare for the big doings.

The Sault locks, between Lakes Superior and Huron, have been of great economic importance to this country for nearly a century. Eighty-five per cent of the iron ore produced in the United States and a large portion of the grain harvested in the Northwest and Canada are transported through this vital waterway.

We predict that Sault Ste. Marie's centennial celebration will attract national attention.

Red Herring In Medical Advertising

PROponents of socialized medicine apparently see something sinister in a decision by Minnesota doctors to advertise in newspapers so that the public will know the position of the medical associations on this important issue.

Why there should be suspicion of sinister shenanigans on this decision by the doctors is difficult to comprehend. The doctors, like trade associations and labor unions, have a message to get across to the public and they simply have accepted the best means of doing so, the medium of the newspapers.

There has been no soliciting of medical association advertising by the newspapers in Minnesota, no "deal" by the papers to support the medical position in exchange for paid advertising, as the proponents of compulsory health insurance imply. It is utterly ridiculous that this insinuation has crept into the controversy over health insurance.

Surely the medical association could hardly expect that the newspapers would deliver the association's message to the people without charge, no more than newspapermen expect doctors to provide professional services without charge.

The proponents of compulsory health insurance have dragged a "red herring" into this controversy.

Costs Of Government Are Skyrocketing

STATES, cities, and other local governments have been searching frantically for new sources of revenue. The cost of road building, fire protection, police service, and all other functions has skyrocketed. Local officials say, with considerable justice, that the taxpayers demand good and expanding services, but that they kick hard when taxes are increased. It is something like the case of the irresistible force meeting the immovable object. And one of the major reasons for the difficulty is the extent to which the federal government has increased its share of total national tax revenues.

U. S. News & World Report recently published a revealing graph to illustrate the trend. In 1940, the federal government took $5,600,000,000 in taxes, and state and local bodies took $8,700,000,000. In other words, of every tax dollar the taxpayer shelled out, the federal government received 39 cents and the other governments got 61 cents.

Now, the federal government is taxing us to the tune of $39,100,000,000 a year, while local governments take $14,500,000,000. Breaking this down, at present the federal government swallows 73 cents out of each tax dollar while the rest of the governments get but 27 cents.

The result, as U. S. News points out, is that local governments "are moving into tax fields now occupied by the federal government. Favorite old tax sources—incomes, sales, admissions, gross receipts, liquor, tobacco, gasoline, others—are being hit hard. Triple taxation is no longer any novelty." In a few places, residents actually pay three separate income taxes—one to the federal government, one to the state, and third to the city.

This illustrates the very practical reason why Mr. Truman's program has met such hard going in congress. In the senate, particularly, Democrats as well as the Republican opposition show a growing concern over the tax burden. It is estimated that Mr. Truman's social security program alone would add at least $12,000,000,000 a year, and possibly a good deal more, to the cost of the federal government. Secretary Brannan's farm price support plan, which, incidentally, is viewed with deep suspicion even by the farm organization—would cost another huge sum. And so, of course, would the president's federal power program.

Congress is committed to enormous military budgets, and to continued heavy spending for European aid. It must also provide for the normal functions of the government. That is why more and more of its members are viewing avoidable spending with a cold eye. It is also the reason why sentiment for putting into effect the Hoover commission recommendations is increasing.

Young Drivers Will Pay More Insurance

NEW YORK STATE has stepped in with a maneuver designed to help curb the high accident rate among automobile drivers under 25 years of age.

The state insurance department has boosted liability rates 15 to 20 per cent for drivers in this age group. What that means is that young drivers will have to pay more than other motorists for insurance, probably until such time as a lowered accident record indicates that they are a safer bet on the highways.

The high accident rate among young drivers is a nation-wide rash that needs stamping out promptly. Other states, particularly Michigan, might well copy the New York example as one means of reducing the menace.

The New York law is no panacea, however. It apparently doesn't affect the young drivers who do all their wild riding in the old man's car.

Other Editorial Comments

RETURN OF PACKAGE FREIGHT (Grand Rapids Press)

Restoration of overnight package freight service between Grand Haven and Milwaukee is a step toward revival of a business that was discontinued to meet war's demands. An estimated 600 communities in Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio and Minnesota are said to be within reach of the service, which promises quick deliveries of fresh fruit and other commodities through co-ordination with truckers.

Before 1939, the year in which the old Nevada was taken off the Grand Haven-Milwaukee run, there were 24 package freighters on the Great Lakes. The entire fleet was rushed into the war emergency. Now it is said replacements are needed to meet the competition of Canadian enterprises which, through expansion and modernization of their facilities, threaten to dominate more than their fair share of Great Lakes shipping.

In a memorandum to the maritime commission in Washington, the Milwaukee port director, as spokesman for Great Lakes shippers, has asked the federal government to come to their aid with surplus vessels from fleets built up for service in World War II. Lack of sufficient shipping facilities, he said, is a problem that affects the "entire economic structure of the middle west." Especial attention was directed to the need of package freighters.

In the early days of the war, while an adequate merchant marine was being rushed to completion in the shipyards, Great Lakes shipping helped get the government out of a tight spot. Apparently it is now paying the penalty for having made that contribution. The thought that war surplus vessels can be reconditioned to fill the gap in American shipping on the Great Lakes is a proposal that seems worthy of consideration by the maritime commission.

New Farm Bill Is Hodge-Podge

BY PETER EDSON

Washington. (NEA)—New farm legislation now before the senate agriculture committee can best be likened to a farmyard junk pile being put together with baling wire.

Maybe there's no use getting excited about it, yet. The sixth draft of the bill being assembled by New Mexico senator, and former secretary of agriculture, Clinton Anderson's subcommittee may be rewritten again, a number of times. In executive session hearings over the past week, Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan is believed to have severely criticized his old boss's handiwork.

Brannan's own production payments farm plan was of course criticized to death in the house. But the proposed Anderson bill substitute in its present form, is a complete political patch-work.

It takes parts of the Aiken bill, the Pace bill, the Steagall amendments, the new Gore farm bill recently passed by the house and even parts of the Brannan plan itself. On top of this it piles some new ideas which are best identified as representing the views of Allan Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Congressman Gore's house bill was also generally credited with having been inspired by the Farm Bureau. Gore is planning to run for the senate in 1950. Other Tennessee congressmen have accused Gore of backing this legislation to win Farm Bureau support in Tennessee.

But other farm organizations are against the Gore bill. National Grange officials have estimated that its rigid 90 per cent of parity farm price support provisions might cost the government as much as $8,000,000,000 in 1950. This is higher even than most estimates on what the Brannan farm plan might have cost.

National Farmers' Union has been backing the Brannan plan from the start, and was against the Gore bill. Just as consistently, the Farm Bureau has been opposing the Brannan plan.

SECTIONAL SPLIT

Inside the Farm Bureau, however, there has been considerable feuding. Kline, representing largely northern and western corn and wheat states, is primarily interested in strong supports for those crops. This issue was fought out at a recent meeting of Farm Bureau directors in Chicago. As a result, Farm Bureau policy was changed. The organization now favors higher supports for cotton and other basic commodities, with quotas and marketing agreements on all crops.

After the house upset the Brannan plan and passed the Gore bill, the senate agriculture committee held brief hearings. They were called to consider the so-called Thomas (of Oklahoma) farm bill, which would have set up the Brannan plan. But the hearings never got around to the Thomas bill. They talked about everything else.

Before this senate committee, Allan Kline testified that dairy products should be considered as secondary crops in the support program. This angered Charles W. Holman of the Milk Producers' Federation, and he has since been gunning for Kline.

All this farm organization politics made the senate agriculture committee realize that the Gore bill wouldn't do. At this juncture Senator Anderson announced he would draw up a new compromise farm bill. The Farm Bureau has had a big hand in its drafting. But what they have produced so far has been criticized as having so many compromises in it that it is completely unclear and unworkable. It will need much redrafting to take out the ambiguity.

SUPPORT LEVEL RAISED

The bill seems to accept the Aiken formula for flexible price supports on the basic commodities—wheat, corn, tobacco, rice, cotton and peanuts. But it raises minimum support level from 60 to 75 per cent of parity. Then it flatly sets tobacco support at 90 per cent of parity and it says there should be 90 per cent parity support for all crops on which marketing quotas or acreage allotments are in effect. In the end, everything would probably get 90 per cent.

The Anderson bill then seems to provide for support price, loan or production payment operations for nonbasic, perishable commodities. But there's a catch. Brannan plan-type production payments would be barred on perishables like livestock or milk of the price support operations can be carried out on their more storable products.

What this seems to mean is that livestock could not be supported if canned meat could be supported, or milk could not be supported if cheese could be supported. The effect is to require supports on the higher-priced processed foods, rather than on the lower-priced farm produce. It would probably double the cost. And the only perishable that could be supported would be something like watermelons.

Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

By GEORGE JESSEL
For Erskine Johnson, who is on vacation

Hollywood (NEA)—My next motion picture production for Twentieth Century-Fox, "Oh You Beautiful Doll," is in technicolor and has no message except that a guy who hasn't got a sweetheart like June Haver is crazy.

In former years it was the custom to continue a guest column in this fashion—get a personal plug in and maybe tell a gag or two. Unfortunately, sitting at a producer's desk as I have for the past few years, I don't know many gags and those that I used to tell have all been heard on a certain television show four or five times this year. But about this I don't complain, as someday I know Milton will not refuse me a loan of a few dollars.

Therefore, I should like to take the rest of this column to say some nice things about an industry that is much more sinned against than is deserved—the motion picture industry, which because of its glamor finds itself vulnerable to attacks from all over. At this very moment I received a pamphlet by some daffy guy in which there are many pictures of some of the world's most beloved actors and actresses and these people the pamphleteer calls Reds and picks out one particular guy who has always been a capitalist since he was 10 years old but who once walked past the office of the Daily Worker—and for this the pamphleteer writes it shows he is Red.

Goes Too Far

In another daily newspaper there is a series of articles—something about shame and fame which pictures a motion picture producer with a lustful virility that could not be possessed by three battalions full of healthy young sailors after they had not seen a fair lady in two years. And so on and so on.

And then motion picture critics of smarter New York magazines where the writer is dismayed that the last Abbott and Costello cinema hasn't any of the sophisticated dialogue of "Design for Living."

Now perhaps anyone reading this might say methinks Mr. Jessel doth protest too much. Well, this is not my intention because the motion picture industry, which has brought so much joy at such small admission price to people all over the world, needs no defense and I am sure that there are reasons that bring forth these poisonous darts from the Hollywood haters.

As for a great many motion picture critics, I think that they are a little irked at times because of reading that a fellow writer, though in another field, has received an enormous sum for his or her story or has been given a long-term contract that sounds like an open sesame to lifetime security.

As for others, perhaps it is because the motion picture magazines have gone out of their way to overglamorize people and photograph simple little bungalows that one finds in the suburbs of any city so that they look like Buckingham Palace.

Dotting Parents Guilty

Or perhaps it is because some dotting parent whose girl child won the elocution contest in Imphick, Pa., wasn't immediately swallowed up to play leading lady on the screen for Clark Gable and Dan Dailey at the same time. There may be other reasons.

But the virtues of motion-picturedom in general drawn out of destructive reaction like an old Caruso record does the records of any city so that they look like Buckingham Palace.

are nearly all open at breakfast time. You don't have to wait until 8:40 or 8:50 at night for curtain time. You don't have to be terribly fastidious as to what you wear.

You get something to eat in the lobby, and you can spend a whole day in an air-conditioned theater—and if you are a boy you can see the loveliest girls in the world—and if you are a gal you can see the best looking guys (this only goes for American pictures) and in almost every picture made you can see virtue triumph, which makes you feel a little bit nobler than you were before.

Therefore, I take the means of Mr. Johnson's vacation to scream loudly from this column that I am very proud to be a motion picture producer, and having been in almost every great city in the world I am very pleased to state that I am both morally and spiritually better since I have lived in Hollywood than I was before—all right, so I'm a little older.

Potter's Weekly Report

Dear Editor:

Unemployment is and probably will continue to be for some time a major domestic problem confronting this country.

We in Northern Michigan are particularly hard hit. It is extremely difficult to get new industries located in our various communities and established industries have been finding it more and more difficult to provide full employment. Paper mills and wood products industries are first to feel the shock of declining business. The Congress as yet has taken no action to repel the unemployment trend. Secretary of Labor Tobin insists that unemployment is temporary and employment will increase this fall and winter. I sincerely hope he is right. All evidence at this time, as far as Northern Michigan is concerned, does not substantiate Secretary Tobin's optimism.

Our communities cannot afford to lose the payrolls our small industries provide. Our employees are cornered. Most have deep roots in their community and cannot pack up and move to a larger city where employment might be available. When the shops close and production is curtailed in our communities, the employees have very little prospect of gaining new employment.

In order to cope with this unemployment problem, I met last week with several of the top officials of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The purpose of this meeting was to formulate plans for legislation that will liberalize present R.F.C. loan provisions, in order, to better aid small industries in areas such as ours.

In my mind it is much sounder economically to aid small business and industry, so they can maintain full employment, than it is for the Federal Government to pour money directly into unnecessary public works projects. As the result of this conference, I hope to have legislation ready in the very near future.

Rep. Charles E. Potter,

Blaming The Parents

Dear Editor:

For some years we have heard speeches by social workers without children about the parents being wholly to blame for the wave of juvenile delinquency in this country. I wish those professional do-gooders would read the article by Howard Whitman in the recent issue of Woman's Home Companion. We parents have been made to feel that we do not know anything about raising children. It's a harder job than social workers realize. There are no hard and fast rules. Every child is different. I admit that we ordinary parents oftentimes mess up this important job of raising a family, but I doubt whether the psychologists and other experts could do any better if they had children of their own.

A Parent.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Members of the senate "5 per-center" investigating committee are considering demanding that Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan be tried on military charges.

The senators have discussed the matter with authorities on military law. Basis for the proposed action are two factors:

(1) Vaughan is not a civilian employee of the White House. He is a reserve officer on active duty and draws pay (over $12,000) from army funds. He is therefore subject to army regulations and rules of conduct the same as any other active officer.

(2) By his own admission, Vaughan has accepted gratuities and gifts. This is in direct violation of a specific prohibitory army regulation. In addition, other charges made before the senate committee lay him open to disciplinary action on the ground of "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman."

What the senate investigators have in mind is a formal demand that Vaughan be hailed before a court-martial.

Such a demand would put President Truman on the spot. It would be wholly up to him to decide whether Vaughan is tried. The president has immediate jurisdiction over Vaughan, and no one in the army would risk ordering him court-martialed without presidential approval.

The senators are fully aware of this. That's why their plan has such a strong appeal for them. Putting the president on the spot is one of the primary objectives. However, other Republican senators are less enthusiastic.

One proposed a modification. He suggested dropping the court-martial demand and substituting instead removal of Harry Vaughan as coordinator of veterans' affairs. The senator pointed out that the claim could be that Vaughan is "unfit to handle veteran affairs" and the president could be put directly on the spot with millions of ex-servicemen.

Another Republican senator, a party leader, was opposed to the whole idea of taking any action against Vaughan, unless the Democrats took the initiative. His view was that it would be better G. O. P. strategy for Vaughan to continue as a prominent member of the president's entourage. In that position, he would be a vulnerable target in next year's elections.

"We could plaster the country with billboards reading 'Have you got your freezer yet?'" the Republican leader pointed out. "If we give Truman the chance to get rid of Vaughan, he might take us up. I would if I were in his place. We don't want to outsmart ourselves in this matter."

Note—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R., Me., has sharply chided her investigating colleagues in closed-door sessions for talking out of turn. "If we are going to permit testimony to leak," she said, "we might as well save time by giving everything directly to the press. That is not my idea of a fair investigation."

So far, Mrs. Smith's admonitions have had no effect.

ALL SET

Rhode Island Democratic chiefs have it all set on who will get what as a result of the elevation of Senator Howard McGrath to attorney general. This is the deal:

McGrath's seat will be filled with a temporary appointee, who will not run next year. He will merely keep the place warm for Governor John Pastore, who will be a candidate next year for the remainder of McGrath's term which expires in 1952. As Pastore's successor in the governorship, the leaders have selected Rep. John E. Fogarty.

Both Pastore and Fogarty are New Deal Democrats. The reshuffling arrangement was chiefly in accordance with Pastore's views. He is the real Democratic boss of the state.

UNEASY

ECA authorities are uneasy about the situation in France.

Currently, political and economic conditions are quiet there. Inflation has been stopped, and the De Gaulle and Communist threats have subsided. Also, the chamber of deputies is in recess and a large portion of the population is enjoying the first quiet vacation period since the war. But behind this peaceful surface are a number of disquieting factors.

Chief of them is the wide disparity between prices and wages and the known preparations of major unions for a new round of pay demands. These are expected early in the fall, with the Communist union's taking the lead.

HOUSING DITTY

A take-off on the famed lyric of the late Gallagher and Shean featured the banquet the national housing conference gave congressional supporters to celebrate the enactment of the president's low-cost housing program.

Charles Abrams, New York lawyer and author of the take-off, sang it as follows: Oh, Mr. Bricker—oh, Mr. Cain—How can we kill off housing without pain? With Sparkman, Taft and Douglas Our slums may soon be bugless. And liberals like Morse will never wane. Oh, Mr. Bricker—oh, Mr. Bricker—Oh, Mr. Cain—oh, Mr. Cain—

Senators Bricker, R., Ohio, and Cain, R., Wash., were leading foes of the measure. Among those at the banquet who laughed heartily at the ditty were Sens. Robert Taft, R., Ohio, Wayne Morse, R., Ore., John Sparkman, D., Ala., and Rep. Helen Members of Escanaba aerie have invited the degree staff of Menominee aerie 517 to exemplify the initiation degree and the 16 piece band from Nagaunee aerie 1944 to furnish the music during the initiation ceremonies. Members from Iron Mountain aerie 428 have also been invited to come to Escanaba to hear the message of the state president.

Clark Williams, Escanaba aerie president, said, "If every member would appreciate the amount of direct benefits paid annually by the Fraternal Order of Eagles in helping the sick, the needy, the widow and orphans then he would have over 100 candidates before the altar in honor of our state president." A full program is planned for the afternoon following the initiation ceremonies.

Movie Charge Account Newest Boxoffice Bait

By JACK QUIGG

Hollywood, (AP)—You may soon be able to step up to the box-office at the Bijou and say: "charge it, please."

Yes, to crown such lures as free dishes, bank nights and popcorn, movie men have dreamed up new bait: boxoffice charge accounts.

The see-it-now-and-pay-later plan was hatched by the King brothers, a trio of Hollywood producers. They're offering it—free—as a tonic for ailing film profits. The Kings, who arrived at their present eminence via interest in slot machine movies, intend to offer their plan to the theater owners of America. The organization begins its annual four-day convention here Sept. 12.

The plan operates this way: A patron's credit rating will be established just as it is when he opens a department store charge account. He will be issued a credit card. At the boxoffice, the cashier will note the card number, name and number of guests. The customer will be billed at the end of the month.

Are credit happy Americans ready to rise to the lure? Yes, says Frank King, spokesman for the brothers.

"Most families live on budgets," Frank says, "and the family bank-roll is usually pretty thin the last few days before payday. If they knew they could pay later, a lot more people would go to the movies."

The Kings, born Frank, Maurice and Hyman Kozinsky on New York's East side, have discussed their idea with theater owners. All the owners liked it, Frank says. He believes there is an excellent chance that the TOA will adopt it. The plan could operate on either a chain or individual theater basis.

Boxoffice credit would hike theater attendance 25 per cent, Frank estimates. No advance in prices would be necessary. In fact, bigger crowds would probably cause them to drop.

Frank blames the current box-office slump—ticket sales have declined as much as 40 per cent in some areas—on theater men themselves.

"The big theater owners are lazy," he says. "They sit back on their haunches and sigh for the war days of big crowds and big money. But they don't go out after business. Meanwhile grosses keep dropping."

Bubonic Plague Is Now Under Control

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Washington—Two cases of bubonic plague reported in New Mexico are the first cases of the once-dread disease known in this country since 1947, records at the U. S. Public Health Service here show.

The feared "black death" of the Middle Ages, bubonic plague has only been conquered effectively within the past half-dozen years. The new advances that combat plague include: DDT for killing off the infected fleas on rodents which spread the disease; sulfadiazine, which has prevented plague among persons exposed to the disease; and streptomycin, which cures plague.

Although no report has been received on how the victims were infected, the disease may have been brought into the country from abroad.

Device Writes Diary In Dust

Instrument Measures Air Contamination

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Los Angeles, Aug. 16 — A simple device developed at the atomic energy project on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California writes a "daily diary in dust". The instrument is used to determine air-borne contaminants and to what extent air in a given area is contaminated. Based on a continuous jet impaction method, it utilizes a jet tapering to a fine slit, through which air samples are drawn. Particles in the air sample are deposited on a revolving glass disk. The disk can be calibrated to collect samples continuously over any desired period of minutes, hours or even up to a week.

The device is so sensitive that it will collect ash deposits from burning buildings within a five-mile radius, detect evidence of personnel in the area from the slight amount of dust stirred up, note meteorological changes and record many other events which agitate particles in the air.

All these occurrences are so precisely recorded that the time they happened can be accurately determined from the deposits on the disk.

Dr. Benedict Cassen, Dr. F. A. Bryan, Leonard Baumash and Lawrence Curtis of the U.C.L.A. medical school atomic energy project developed the new device.

A mild winter in 1890 caused a world-wide shortage of natural ice and stimulated development of ice making machines.

RULES

1. The Contest is open to everybody, men, women and children.

Contest opens with the legal fishing season and closes on September 15.

Envelopes containing entries must bear a postmark not later than September 15, 1949, to be eligible.

2. All fish entered in the contest must be caught in public waters of Upper Michigan during the open season in the respective fish class.

3. Contest is limited to fish taken with hook and line. Any legal lure may be used. Lake trout must be caught on a rod or line freely held in the hand and not attached to a boat.

4. All information asked for on the entry blank should be supplied. Failure to give length and girth may disqualify entries. Fish must be weighed on tested scales and measured with a steel tape measure, the length taken from the end of the lower jaw with the mouth closed to the tip of the tail, and the greatest girth of the fish taken. Weight may be given dressed or in the round or both.

5. In the wall-eyed pike and black bass classes a photograph is desirable to be sure of identity of the species.

6. In the event of two or more fish weighing and measuring exactly the same, identical trophies will be awarded. Greatest measurements will decide the winner when weights are approximately equal.

7. Accompany your entry with a photograph of yourself or the fish or both together with a brief story of how, where and when the fish was caught. A photograph is not essential to win an award but it is desirable.

8. The entry blank printed above, or an exact copy must be used. It must be signed by the person catching the fish and by two witnesses who examined the fish and verified its weight and measurements. The contestant agrees, if requested to do so by the judges, to furnish an affidavit attesting to the truth of all statements made in the entry.

9. Contestants may make as many entries in all classes as they wish.

PRIZE AWARDS

In each of the classes the angler entering the fish which is adjudged to be the largest in its class will receive a trophy in recognition of his or her accomplishment.

Additional blanks may be had free of charge by addressing Outdoors Editor, Escanaba Daily Press, Escanaba, Michigan.

Lobbies Grow In Washington

Spend More Money In '49 Than Before

Washington—More lobbies spent more money during the first half of 1949 than ever before in the history of the United States, an analysis of pressure-group accounting to Congress reveals.

Two hundred and sixty-one organizations (more than have filed statements in any previous quarter) reported their spending exceeded $4 billion during the first half of this year. The total for the same period in 1948 was $3.5 billion, or $600 million less than the report for the last six months.

This could be misleading. Spending is up, yet it's possible lobbies aren't shelling out more greenbacks than in the past. It's a matter of reporting. Even after a law was passed requiring reporting, many didn't at first.

So the increase may be attributed to more organizations reporting expenditures. Some are scared by a lobby investigation already approved by the House and now pending before the Senate rules committee. At the same time, the Department of Justice has announced it is extending its lobby law enforcement activities.

Six groups reported expenditures of more than $100,000 for the first half year. Many other important groups may be spending more, although allocation figures keep their total figures down.

High spenders are: American Medical Association, $508,397; Committee for Constitutional Government, $306,297; National Association of Electric Companies, $224,222; United World Federalists $169,401; Citizens' Committee on Displaced Persons, $141,612; and the National Small Business Men's Association $129,637.

AMA, the league leader, reported it had raised nearly $2 million in 1949 by $25 assessments on doctor members. All money spent was obtained from this source.

Reports of such groups as NAM, and the Townsend National Recovery Plan, still outstanding, are expected to boost the total still higher.

The report of Revere Copper and Brass showed that ex-Senator John Danaher (R-Conn.) received $98,000 for his efforts to prolong the suspension of copper import duties which domestic producers are now seeking.

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

IN THESE days of very, very, long novels it is wholesome for writers, and especially for would-be writers, to remember that brevity is often far more impressive than length. An inspired writer told us thousands of years ago that the "still, small voice" is heard above the clatter of the whirlwind and the storm; and sober literary history reveals the fact that sometimes a single paragraph packs more dynamite than a long volume.

The abnormally long novels of our time, especially since those long books often win large audiences, might lead to the belief that the emphasis of a book is in proportion to its word mileage. But that does not at all follow. We today use up a thousand pages to tell the love story of a flapper and her boy-friend, but the genius who wrote the Book of Genesis told the story of the creation of the world in 795 words. But most of our thousand-page chronicles will in 10 years' time, have gone with the wind, but the story of creation is still with us after some thousands of years.

IN WRITING as in speaking there is an impressiveness in smallness when accompanied with quality, a power in quietness and restraint, an emphasis in brevity that is frequently forgotten. All art consists in chipping away the extraneous and exposing to view the quintessence of things. Given the same thought content, to write a long book is much easier than to write a short one; a thousand-page novel often means that a writer has not finished his job—he has left his story clogged with raw material.

A few years ago there was a tendency in American fiction to concentrate on the "short-short story." It was a tendency that was worth cultivating. When a short-short is genuinely successful it packs into 500 or 1,000 words the same effect that the average writer achieves in 10,000. To be able to do in 10 words what others do in a hundred is one of the marks of genius.

The trouble with many of the short-shorts was and is, that they have brevity and not much else. Writing the short-short became a fad and nearly everybody who was writing fiction at all tried his hand at it. Comparatively few did things with the form that were worth reading. But even so there was a gain; if these commonplace people had not been writing their commonplace stories in this abbreviated form they would have been telling the same stories at 10 times the word yardage. If a thing is piffle anyway, the briefer the better.

BUT THE WAVE of short-shorts has been followed by what might appropriately be called a wave of long-longs; at least in the novel, for in the short story there hasn't been a great deal of change. Many of the people who were writing short-shorts a few years ago are writing short stories of conventional length now. It might be a good thing if writers could now turn to the short-short novel to correspond to the type in the short-story.

The short-short novel is of course being written but it is not popular with either the publishers or the readers. Robert Nathan is consistently writing the short-short novel and is making a reputation with it. He packs as much meaning in one of his books of about 30,000 words as many another writer can get into a volume of 200,000 words. Willa Cather occasionally did a short-short novel (books like "A Lost Lady"), and Edith Wharton did the short-short novel with exceptional skill.

But the type has never attained widespread vogue. Perhaps it will get its chance in sheer reaction to the long-long novel of the moment.

Bark River Captures 14th Successive Win In Tri-County League

Bark River, Aug. 22—Bark River, defending champion in the Tri-County Baseball league yesterday, chalked up its 14th consecutive league triumph of the season. Perronville was the victim by an 18-2 county Ray Menard scattered eight hits and walked nary a man for the Barks.

Tigers Divide With Brownies

Hutch Takes Finale, His 8th In A Row

Cincinnati, Aug. 22 (AP)—With a day off from their futile American league championship chase, the Detroit Tigers took time out today to help give a financial boost to amateur baseball in Cincinnati.

The Tigers, who split a doubleheader with the Browns in St. Louis yesterday, engage in an exhibition test with the National league's Cincinnati Reds.

Proceeds will go to the Cincinnati Amateur Baseball Federation. Earlier this season, the two teams met at Briggs stadium to advance a similar cause in Detroit, and the Reds won.

Yesterday's split gave the Tigers only two wins in a five game series with the lowly Browns. They lost the opener 4 to 2, but Freddie Hutchinson came through in a relief role in the nightcap to gain an 8 to 7 win, his eighth in a row.

Hutch, who took over pitching duties after Lou Kreflow and Marvin Grissom had put in appearances, got some substantial help from three home run hitters, Vic Wertz, Pat Mullin and Paul Campbell.

Wertz and Pat's circuit blows came early in the game, and their run-making effect was well counterbalanced by Stan Spence's two homers.

Campbell's played a bigger part in the final outcome. Paul came to bat in the eighth with two men on base and the score 7 to 4 in the Brownies' favor. He knocked the ball into the stands and the game was tied.

But the Tiger rally didn't stop there. Aaron Robinson walked after Bob Swift had gone out, and Hutchinson sacrificed. Then Don Kolloway socked a double that sent Robinson in with what proved to be the winning run.

In pinning a loss on Teddy Gray in the first game, the St. Louis club moved out of the American league cellar that it has occupied for 113 days.

Yankees Have Got It Around Greens, Beaten British Say

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Great Britain never can expect to regain the Walker Cup until its golfers overcome the Americans' mastery around the greens, says Percy (Laddie) Lucas, captain of the visiting forces.

"We're going right back to England and start working on our wedges and short irons," the 32-year-old former RAF wing commander said today as he reviewed Britain's 11th setback in 12 cup clashes with the U. S. The cream of Britain's amateur shot-makers were repulsed, 10-2, in the renewal of the International classic last week-end over the winged foot course.

There was one consolation for the Britons as Uncle Sam's specialists won three of the four Scotch foursomes and seven of the eight singles matches.

The No. 1 American entry in both events was humbled. Ronald White, 28-year-old English champion, trounced Willie Turnesa the U. S. amateur titleholder, 4 and 3, in singles. He teamed with Joe Carr to beat Turnesa and Ray Billows in the foursomes.

Ferrier Wins Grand Rapids $15,000 Open

Sets PGA Tourney Record Of 263

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP)—Big Jim Ferrier of San Francisco finally won a golf tournament yesterday and rewrote the record book in doing it.

Ferrier, the perennial runner-up in pro golfing circles this season, turned in a 263 score to cop $2,600 first prize money in the Grand Rapids Open golf tournament at Cascade Hills Country Club.

His performance bettered by a stroke the PGA tournament record of 264 for a par 72 course. That was set by Craig Wood in the Metropolitan Open at New York in 1949.

The Australian-born Ferrier had to call on his golfing skill and luck to turn back the challenge of E. J. Dutch Harrison of St. Louis, Ill., who fired a brilliant eight under par 64 on the final round yesterday in an effort to catch him. Ferrier had a 65.

Ferrier took a four-stroke lead into the final round of the 72-hole affair as he had a 54-hole total of 193 while Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago was in the runnerup spot with 202 and arrison in third place with 203.

Mangrum had three birdies and 15 pars for a 69—three under par—and a 271 card for the $15,000 tournament Harrison wound up with 267.

Ferrier's play at the 16th hole had the winner, Harrison, and 6,000 fans all holding their breath.

At that point Jim was five under par and Harrison was five under. Ferrier's drive on the 297-yard hole was in the rough, and he hit his second shot onto the green about 15 feet from the pin.

Harrison lofted his second shot toward the green about 130 yards away. The ball hit three feet in front of the pin, skipped up and dropped in.

With the pressure on, Ferrier lined his 15-footer toward the cup, but the ball stopped just on the lip—held out by a single blade of grass.

Jim puffed nervously on a cigarette for nearly two minutes—then turned his back to watch Lawson Little, of Monterey, Calif., the third member of the threesome.

Suddenly the crowd gave a tremendous yell. The ball had toppled in, giving Ferrier a birdie three and the boost he needs to go on to win.

Zoe Ann Olsen Cops 14th U. S. Diving Cup

San Antonio, Aug. 22 (AP)—Pretty Zoe Ann Olsen had her fourteenth national championship for her backflip chest today and Hawaii could brag of almost complete domination of the Woman's AAU Swimming meet.

Zoe Ann, who will wed football star Jack Jensen next month, came back from a nasty tumble yesterday to win her fourteenth title—the three meter springboard. She piled up 155.76 points by using five of the most difficult tricks in the book for optional dives.

Hawaii's bronzed swimmers won six championships, a flock of seconds, thirds and fourths and the team trophy with 48 points.

Miss Olsen, 18-year-old Oakland, Calif., Olympics star, skidded on the slippery springboard as she started a two and one-half somersault. She landed on her back and slid off the board.

After dabbling away a few tears, she went right back and executed the dive. It netted 46.2 points. Her next three options were beauties, and the last—a running, full twisting forward one and one-half somersault—was near perfect.

Gladstone Rifle Club Meets To Plan Entry In U. P. Tournament

THE ARM—Veteran Sid Luckman leaves his Chicago automobile agency and television distributing company to put in another season with the professional Bears.

Cooks Winds Up Season with 6-0 Shutout Over Nahma '9'

Nahma, Aug. 22—Cooks, successful defender of the Bay de Noc Baseball league championship, wound up its 1949 season in a blaze of glory here yesterday afternoon by blanking Nahma, 6-0, with a 12-hit attack. Johnson held the Nahmans to six hits.

Schafer, Nahma's starting hurler who holds the only victory over Cooks this season, was shelled from the mound this time. He allowed six hits and six runs in the first inning and therein rests the ball game.

Communist Strikes Broken Up In Chile; Troops Evict Miners

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 22 (AP)—Troops evicted more than 1,000 tired and hungry sit-down strikers from the Lota coal mine last night and arrested 35 Communist leaders accused of fomenting the trouble.

Officials quoted the miners as saying Communists spoke men had convinced them the government had fallen, that a general strike had crippled the country and that revolution had broken out in Santiago.

End of the Lota strike came as the government announced it had broken an attempted Communist revolution based on a general strike.

Officials said a roundup of ringleaders was underway and they would be exiled to remote sections of the country.

A general state of emergency—a form of martial law—was ordered Saturday and troops were sent to guard coal, copper and nitrate mines in the north and south.

The action was taken after four days of disorders in Santiago, the capital, over an increase in bus fares. The rioting resulted in three deaths and injuries to about 300 persons. The government charged the disorders were inspired by Communists who planned to incite a nationwide strike of railroad, bank and civil service workers.

Mother Wins $26,000 Radio Prize; Son To Get Brain Operation

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 22 (AP)—An attractive 29-year-old mother of two children won $26,000 in prizes on the "Stop the Music" giveaway radio show last night with the help of a house guest.

She is Mrs. Dorthe Pappendorf, wife of a Missouri highway department engineer. The American Broadcasting company said she correctly identified over the telephone the program's mystery melody as "Butter'd Peas."

The helpful guest was her brother-in-law, Randall Pappendorf, of, of Kansas City.

Her husband, Carson R. Pappendorf, agreed with his wife the prize is timely. Their son, Robert William, 2, is facing a brain operation soon to correct a condition caused by a fall a year ago.

Slot Machine Sells Railroad Tickets To Long Islanders

New York, Aug. (AP) Long Island rail road passengers soon will be able to buy tickets the same way subway riders get chewing gum out of a slot machine.

The commuters can pick their stations—just as the subway sardines pick their brands of gum.

What's more—the Long Island's mechanical wizards will make change.

The railroad's ticket selling operations will advance into the push-button age at its concourse in Pennsylvania station.

Automatic vending machines will dispense tickets to 50 stations and return change. Passengers will have to go to ticket windows for other stations.

The machines may be in operation on an experimental basis this week.

The machine has a selector knob for the stations, beginning with Amityville at $1.13 and ending with Woodside at 20 cents.

The passengers put in half dollars, quarters, dimes and nickels (no pennies) and the machine does the rest.

Other craft here during the past week were "Charlie R," 49 foot power boat owned by B. C. Patten, Chicago; "Chez Chien," 30-foot auxiliary sloop, David L. Pike, Northpoint Point, Mich.; "Sagitta," 53 foot auxiliary sloop, which visits the Escanaba harbor frequently, Thomas A. Friedman, Fish Creek; and "Taurus," 40-foot cruiser, Clem Renner of the South Shore Yacht club, Milwaukee.

In parts of upper Egypt rain falls only about once in every five years.

Jerry McKie Talks At Kiwanis Meeting On Visit To Europe

Jerry McKie, 915 South 14th street, University of Michigan student, speaking at the meeting of the Kiwanis club today described some of his interesting experiences in Europe last year while he was studying at the University of Basle in Switzerland.

McKie, a World War II veteran, joined a University of Maryland study group of about twenty students on the trip to Europe last September. He described activities at the university and various experiences enjoyed while on a vacation trip to Milan, Venice, Pompeii, Naples and other parts of Italy.

Particularly amusing was his report on his detention by Russian soldiers in Soviet-occupied Austria, while he and his friends were vacationing in that country. He also told of visiting battlefields where he served during World War II.

The Kiwanis club will hold its annual picnic at William Hildebrand's cottage near Forest lake next Monday evening.

Plane Lost Over North Manitoba With 20 Aboard

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 22 (AP)—Three Dakota planes are searching northern Manitoba for an amphibious Canso aircraft missing since last night with 20 persons aboard, Royal Canadian Air Force officials said today.

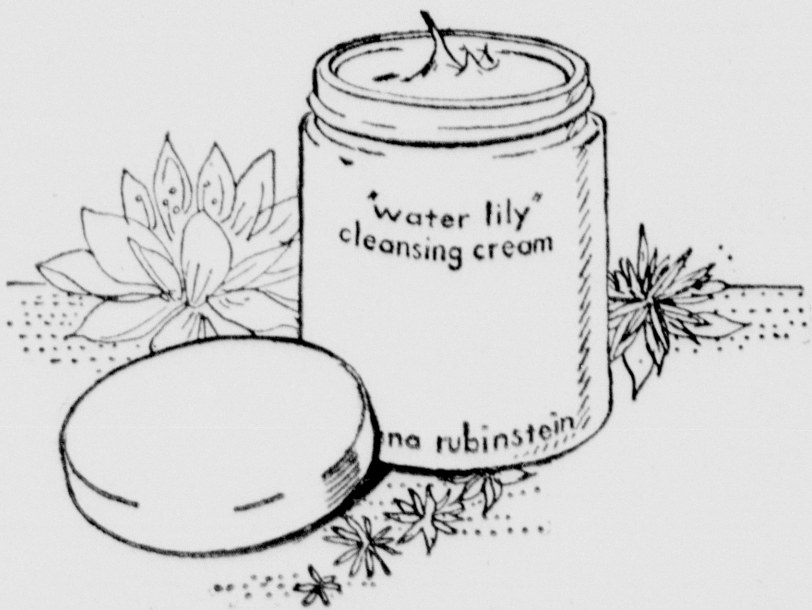

The Canso left Churchill at 6 p. m. (EST) last night and last radioed the Hudson Bay port one and one half hours later. It was scheduled to land here at 10:10 p. m.

Those aboard included a crew of six, seven Eskimos stricken with poliomyelitis who are accompanied by a nurse, a newspaper man and a party of men from the Federal Bureau of Transport.

The original purpose of the flight was to replace the transport department men who were serving at northern outposts.
